Lanker Questioned by Jurors in Cases Before Body

COMPLETE TASK WEDNESDAY

Indictment of Bat Slayer Seen by Prosecutor

Chief Thomas A. Lanker, of the Lima police department, was the central figure Wednesday in the grand jury investigation of law violations now in progress.

Lanker was before the jury for upward of an hour and was closely questioned, it is stated, concerning conditions in the city and about his knowledge of cases sent up from the criminal court.

Among the cases in which Lanker testified were murder charges preferred against Bruce Reynolds, ball player, who killed George Johnson; William Ramga the street car bandit, whose operations baffled the police for months, and "Cad" Laycock, charged with transportation of stolen cars and defacing motor numbers.

Session of the grand jury is scheduled to be ended late Wednesday. Prosecuting Attorney Lippincott declared at noon.

Indictment of Bruce Reynolds charged with slaying George Johnson, is expected, Lippincott predicted. Whether the indictment will be for first degree murder or on second degree charges, could not be learned.

Lee Clements, former hotel man and witness for the investigating committee in the trial which terminated in disbarment of R. R. Trubey, may not be brought before this term of the grand jury, it was learned.

Clements is accused of striking Samuel Gardner, refuse collector, with an iron bar, inflicting dangerous injury.

Unless the defendant, who is held under $10,000, charged with assault with intent to kill, faces the jury voluntarily, his case will probably go over, pending outcome of Gardner's injury.

G. A. R. WOMEN TO ELECT TODAY

Will Also Present Flag to Columbus Girl Scouts

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press)—Women's Auxiliary organizations of the Grand Army of the Republic will nominate and elect officers and present a flag to local girl scouts today.

Members of the Grand Army of the Republic and other visitors here for the annual state encampment will hold a reception tonight.

Ritualistic work will be presented today by several of the women's auxiliaries.

There will be a parade of the G. A. R. veterans tomorrow afternoon but it has not been decided whether they will march or be driven in automobiles.

Along with a pageant depicting days of the '61 period last night was held an old-fashioned dance. Old guard fiddlers beat out the "jazz" tunes of the sixties, while the dancers executed the quadrille, the Virginia reel, the Polka and French four, names of dances almost forgotten today. Here and there could be seen a blue clad veteran escorting a younger miss wearing the demure hoopskirt of civil war days and endeavoring to demonstrate movements of the time-honored steps, but usually with scant success.

THREE MEN ARE SHOT TO DEATH ABOARD SHIP

Officer Runs Amuck on Shipping Board Steamer

CAPTAIN IS ONE OF VICTIMS

Slayer Barricades Self in Room, Commits Suicide

GALVESTON, Texas. — (Associated Press) — Shooting to death three men wounding a fourth in the space of two minutes is the record of S. Thettos, second officer of the shipping board steamer Brave Coeur.

Unpublished details of the tragedy which ended in the suicide of Thettos were received here today by letter from H. Grotemat, chief engineer of the ship.

Thettos was on watch at the time of the shooting, according to the letter. He left the bridge about 2 p. m. on June 6, secured a gun, went to the room of captain J. N. Neilson and shot him, also Radio Operator A. Glazier who was talking to the captain. He then went to the room of Supercargo John L. Perry, who was asleep and killed him.

BOUND FOR PORTUGAL
The second officer then fired at Otto Hanslar, a seaman, wounding him several times. Thettos retired to his room, barricading himself therein and efforts to dislodge him were futile. Only two minutes were consumed in the shooting.

The Brave Coeur was headed for Oporto, Portugal, at full speed. On arrival at the port the American consul tried to persuade Thettos to surrender without result. Lima was dropped into Thettos' room thru the ventilator and as soon as it began to take effect, he shot himself thru the mouth, lingering in the hospital until the afternoon of June 9.

No motives for Thettos' action are known, the letter states, as the men shot, with the exception of the captain, were most intimate with him.

The Brave Coeur with the bodies of the captain, supercargo and wireless operator, is due to reach Galveston about July 1.

CLEMENTS' CAR IS GIVEN TO WIFE

Police Accede to Wish of Prisoner in County Jail

Police Tuesday afternoon turned over to Mrs. Clements a Cadillac automobile owned by Lee Clements, who is in the county jail unable to give $10,000 bond, charged with assault with intent to kill. His arrest followed a fight with Samuel Gardner, at Frank Albert's garage, on E. Wayne-st., during which Clements is said to have hit Gardner over the head with a car axle, fracturing Gardner's head.

After his arrest, Clements asked police to turn his automobile over to his wife.

Physicians attending Gardner say he will recover. His condition Wednesday morning was said to be much improved and the belief was expressed that he will be able to leave the hospital in the near future.

MISSING GIRL AND BOY FOUND

Hunger Drives Eloping Pomeroy Couple to Uncle's Home

POMEROY, Ohio. — (United Press) — Edna Kelly, 16, and Herbert Soulsby, 15, for whom posses have been searching for two days since their mysterious disappearance last Sunday on their way home from Sunday school, today appeared at the home of the boy's uncle, Royal Thomas, and asked for something to eat.

They had spent the past three days wandering thru the woods, they said. They were tired and very hungry.

They had eaten nothing but berries, they said.

Herbert asked his uncle for money with which to go on to West Virginia so they could be married. Herbert said that the parents had opposed their marriage and they had decided to run away and be married while they were on their way home from Sunday school.

A great posse that had been scouring the wooded hills of Meigs-co was immediately disbanded.

The two children were to be brought back to their homes today. This, they particularly opposed, still maintaining that they loved each other 'unto death' and wanted to be married.

MASTERS' ARREST ALSO PLANNED

Drastic Steps to Stop Dry Law Violations Considered

PARLEY HELD AT WASHINGTON

Officials Declare Aliens Must Respect Volstead Act

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press) — Seizure by the United States of foreign vessels bringing in liquor in violation of the supreme court decision and treasury regulations is understood to have been considered in a series of conferences today between treasury and prohibition officials.

Thus far there has been no attempt to do more than confiscate the liquor itself but some of the officials who sat in the conferences are understood to have urged that more drastic steps should be adopted if foreign shipping companies are to continue their policy of openly disregarding the treasury ruling against bringing liquor stores into American jurisdiction. No decision was announced.

Participating in the conferences were Acting Secretary Gilbert and Assistant Secretary Moss of the treasury department with representatives of the state department, Commissioner Blair of the internal revenue bureau, Assistant Prohibition Commissioner Jones, representing Commissioner Haynes and Chief Counsel Brant of the prohibition unit.

REQUIREMENTS OF LAW
It was pointed out that the Volstead act requires the seizing of ships carrying liquor illegally and the arrest of their masters but that the American government had been disposed to be patient and content itself so far with seizing only the contraband liquor. But in view of the constant stream of ships arriving in violation of regulations, it was said a sharp change of policy was under serious consideration.

The government has been willing to have the foreign lines file suits to test their right to bring in liquor under their governments' customs seals but so far no steps for such a test have been taken.

A problem of warehousing the seized liquor is threatened among other things and some of them are said to be ready to apply the full force of the law to end the situation now prevailing in New York harbor.

SERIOUS STEP
Confiscation in this manner of the foreign fleet which has brought liquor into New York, including as it does, some of the largest and finest liners in the trans-Atlantic service, would be, in the opinion of officials here, a step fraught with many serious considerations.

At the same time, however, some legal authorities are known to hold that the provisions of the law are mandatory and that nothing but a desire to stretch a point for the sake of international comity, can afford the offending liners protection. In support of that view, it is pointed out that in many cases this government has applied the confiscatory clause drastically to captured runners flying foreign flags.

SEWER CONTRACT SIGNED
McHugh & Cole Co., of Fort Wayne and Lima, awarded the contract to install sewers in O'Brien's addition, signed the contract in the city hall Wednesday. Company's bid is for $22,600. City Manager C. A. Bingham said the work will be started this week and completed some time in September.

The regional conference will be held on Thursday.

LOITERERS KEEP POLICE ON JUMP

Numerous Calls Received by Officers Tuesday Night

Prowlers and loiterers continue to appear at intervals in different sections of the city, police reports show, and altho quick responses are made in every case by police, the prowlers seem to sense danger and disappear.

Responding to a call Tuesday night, police succeeded in catching a suspect, Joseph Cousins, 436 N. West-st, called police station after 10 p. m. and reported a prowler in his yard. Officers went to the place and found Amama Magana, who said his home was in Kansas City, preparing to sleep in the front yard for the night.

Other calls were: Mr. Henry Rice, 1041 Beece-av, reported a man in her back yard about 9 p. m. and a suspicious looking man loitering near 416 N. West-st. This man is believed by police to have been Magana, caught in the yard at 436 N. West-st later in the night.

FLYERS OFF FOR NEW RECORDS

Ascend to Remain in Air Four Days and Nights

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (Associated Press) — Captain Lowell B. Smith, American premier forestry patrol flyer and his noted wing mate, Lieutenant John B. Richter, took off from Rockwell field at 4 o'clock this morning in a De Havilland plane in which they hope to remain aloft for four days and four nights and to break or establish 12 aerial records, among them being the endurance record which they hope to attain by refueling in midair.

The plane is equipped with a 400 horsepower Liberty motor.

Aviators say that if Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter are successful it means that a fast airplane of limited fuel capacity can take off at New York and by refueling in mid-air reach the Pacific coast in less than 18 hours.

Should Smith and Richter remain aloft sixty hours they probably will have traveled 2,000 miles farther than did Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady in their non-stop transcontinental flight, or nearly three-fourths the distance from San Diego to Hong Kong.

The records sought are those for distance, for duration and for speed over 2,000, 2,500, 3,000, 3,500 and 4,000 kilometers. The officers also hope to establish speed records for 4,500, 5,000, 5,500, 6,000, 6,500 and 7,000 kilometers. No airplane has been on the wing long enough to establish a speed record for 4,500 kilometers, for no airplane has sufficient gasoline capacity to carry it such a distance.

INMATES ESCAPE DELAWARE HOME

Twelve Captured and Returned to Industrial School

LANCASTER GUARD MURDERED

Clubbed to Death by Boy at Institution

DELAWARE, Ohio. — (Associated Press) — Fifteen inmates of the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware made their escape from the institution last night by all making a break for liberty at the same time. Twelve of the fifteen have been captured, it was announced here today.

A general alarm was sounded when their escape became known.

The girls took different directions. Clues are being followed today by officers of the institution which are expected to result in their apprehension.

Officials of the state welfare department said the school is short of officers because of recent resignations.

The girls, it is said, realized this shortage and coupled with conditions at the institution since charges were filed against Mrs. Mae E. Stannard, former matron of the institution, and her subsequent removal, thought the time opportune for escape.

OFFICER BEATEN TO DEATH BY BOY

LANCASTER, Ohio. — (Associated Press) — John H. Karschner, 47, officer at the Boys' Industrial school, died this morning at the institution as the result of an attack made upon him by Frederick C. Mills, 16, of Akron, an inmate, last night.

Karschner received a compound fracture of the skull when Mills struck him over the head with an iron bar as the two were engaged in gathering eggs in the poultry house. Karschner is believed to have been struck seven times, and remained in a semi-conscious condition until his death.

OFFICER STRIPPED
Following the assault Mills stripped the officer's body of clothing and, dressing himself in it, made his escape. He was captured four hours later by officers from the Boys' Industrial school at the village of Hamburg.

The attack is said to have been premeditated and was solely for the purpose of escape.

Mills was received last April from Akron upon conviction of automobile stealing and carrying concealed weapons.

Officer Karschner has been at the institution 24 years, and according to Acting Superintendent A. N. Beischer, was a most faithful and model officer. He is survived by his two sister, Mrs. Clara K. Carey, secretary of the supreme court at Columbus, and Mrs. Dora A. Caldwell, Irwin, Calif., and one nephew, Faxon A. Carey of the public utilities commission of Columbus. Karschner's home was at Ashville, Ohio. The record of Mills was said to be perfect.

NEWS REPORTER RIDES WITH COPS—TELLS OF NIGHT PATROL AND NEED OF A NEW CAR

By A NEWS REPORTER
In the old back seat of the Hen-ee-ee Ford. You sure could hear the rumble of the old buckboard....

The remaining lines of that once popular ballad escape our memories. Suffice it to say that the four quoted above kept tumbling thru our mind as irregularly as the Lima police department emergency car's erratic cylinders registered explosions during the wee hours Wednesday morning.

I was assigned to ride with policemen thruout the night last night while they made their rounds in the department's Ford. A particular watch was kept for prowlers by the plainclothesmen who operate the old driver.

While the Baby Franklin, which has seen much service since it was bought by the department many months ago, rattled noisily as it was driven over the streets—some good, some bad and some worse—I gained the impression that the concentrated patrol which is possible by use of the automobile is a big asset at this time when the department is short of men due to lack of funds.

Another thing that was apparent was that the department needs another car. At present the equipment consists of the old Ford, the big armored car which must be kept at headquarters to combat yeggs, and a motorcycle for which there is only one driver.

I visited headquarters Tuesday night. Some conversation, a little personal inspection and our tour with the Ford-riders convinced me that the department needs another car or more policemen, and the latter is out of the question.

After learning from Lanker that the Lima police department, watch dog for a city of 50,000 souls, has but twenty-seven men on its roster, we demanded to know how he managed.

"Take a look for yourself," the chief dared.

And we did.

Promptly at 9 o'clock when the sea of humanity begins to ebb and the fall of darkness brings a cloak beneath which surreptitious action of illegitimate workers has a tendency to begin, plainclothesmen Ray Blair and Jess Hargrove cranked the old Ford and began their nightly round of the city.

We hopped in behind — and our bones are still rattling in time with the ecstatic shimmy of the rapidly decaying police car.

Blair and Hargrove, detailed to tour the streets of Lima all night long, keep on the constant lookout for questionable characters. Their work is that of a dozen patrolmen. Instead of waiking beats which might have been covered by uniformed men had the department available officers, they ride the entire city in the Ford. Meanwhile, at headquarters, the desk clerk keeps an anxious eye on the telephone switchboard before him, awaiting the periodic calls of the two plainclothesmen. In addition to this "concentrated beat duty" which they perform, they must keep in constant touch with the office to handle any emergency which might arise.

With Blair and Hargrove, we drove thru the dim light afforded only by a hazy golden moon and a few scattered lights. With them, we peered into the darkness, anxiously eyeing every individual who passed along the street, and called back to headquarters for instructions.

Once we stopped a lad who had difficulty in explaining why he was walking leisurely down Nye-st at 2 a. m. Again we tried every door and window of a house in State-st where a light was seen burning and from which inhabitants were known to have been absent. All was well. Again we were informed by headquarters that a prowler in the Cousins' junk yard in N. West-st had been apprehended and cast behind the bars at headquarters.

And upon another occasion we stealthily surrounded a shadow which bobbed menacingly beneath a window in Woodlawn-av only to discover it had been caused by a nodding bush nearby.

The officers permitted nothing to escape their attention. They patrolled the city inch by inch, and then went over it again.

And all the while the ancient Ford in which they rode, suffering much from the enormous strain to which it has been subjected since it was purchased long ago, wheezed laboriously. And all the while Sergeant McCoy in charge of headquarters paced the floor nervously for fear an emergency demanding immediate attention might arise and the plainclothesmen would be beyond his immediate reach.

Under conditions as they now exist, one man more than half the entire force, is the number delegated to guard the city between the hours of 2 p. m. and 7 a. m. Two of this number must remain in headquarters. The remaining twelve are divided between two shifts which overlap. All are kept constantly busy by the enormous territory they must cover and the comparatively large number of complaints which necessitate a return.

The patrol instituted since the outbreak of house robberies began has resulted in a gradual diminishing of both burglary and prowler reports, records show.

The present organization details the chief, Inspector Strick, Detective Kipper, Motor Sergeant Watkins, Special Clerk Reed, Complaint Clerk Cook, two plainclothesmen, two uniformed officers and two traffic officers to the day shift.

For night work with Sergeant McCoy in command, two street sergeants, two desk clerks, two plainclothesmen and seven patrolmen are detailed.

In some instances, ranking officers and the motorcycle man work extra hours. These men divided into these shifts must guard the city.

Patrolmen are subject to call from their beats to headquarters for emergency work, the same as any plainclothesmen. This is necessitated by the small number of men on the force.

Nevertheless, the handicapped greatly, the department just now, as evidenced by our night with the police, in patrolling the city from top to bottom—and keeps the law supreme.

COUNTY IS PLACED UNDER WAR LAW

Action Taken Against "Insurrection" by Oklahoma Governor

BLAME IS PUT ON SHERIFF

Laxity on Officials' Part Charged by Executive

OKMULGEE, Okla. — (Associated Press) — Oklahoma county unexpectedly was placed under martial law last night. Governor J. C. Walton proclaimed a state of lawlessness and disorder amounting to insurrection against civil authority rendered necessary placing state troops in control.

A great part of the county's population maintains it is bewildered by the executive's action and that it is looking about for the "condition of lawlessness and terror" described by the governor.

"Local officers either cannot or will not suppress the breaches of the peace," Governor Walton declared in his proclamation, which was accompanied by a statement signed by three Okmulgee-co citizens detailing alleged abuse of power by the force of Sheriff John Russell, and declaring the sheriff had been "utterly indifferent" to a series of depredations which threatened "serious results."

The petition to the governor for "immediate action" was signed by Rev. J. C. Curry, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Henryetta; John Stormont, Henryetta police chief, and W. L. Sullivan, motor car dealer at that place.

Answering, Sheriff Russell declared the governor's action grew out of the arrest of several men carrying special police commissions signed by the governor and the challenging of a number of other special officers of the governor who came into Okmulgee-co bearing arms. Specific allegations by the three citizens were denied by the sheriff.

Under the executive proclamation, the military forces are directed to "protect human life and keep the public peace until such time as the local civil authorities can again insure the enforcement of the law and the protection of the citizens of every race, class and condition in the enjoyment of civil rights and liberties guaranteed them by the constitution of the state and of the nation."

CRABBE RULING AFFECTS OHIO LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

Ohio building and loan associations, stock in which is subscribed, are governed by the provisions of the new building and loan law, if they have not commenced business prior to July 3, when the new law becomes effective, Attorney General Crabbe ruled Wednesday.

The new law prohibits the issuance of certificates to operate the associations which have paid or contracted to pay commissions for the sale of stock in the company.

The section of the law providing all building and loan associations must maintain a paid-up portion of their capital stock equal to five per cent does not affect associations now operating, the ruling holds.

RAIN FORECAST DAY'S FEATURE

They've been getting rain—and perhaps hail—somewhere near Lima, indicated by the state of the temperature hereabout since Tuesday.

Delightfully cool during the night and the same sort of condition continuing Wednesday. Which boosts the batting average of the joy of living, as a Frog City editorial writer is wont to say frequently.

Inability of the Lima territory to win the favor of the weatherman to extent of being made the scene for refreshing showers hasn't.

Called the forecaster one while. He's still predicting "em. Note this: Probably showers tonight and Thursday. Moderate temperature.

"Life is real, life is earnest," declares the graduate at commencement time. Course it is. Always was and always will be, so long as life lasts. And such weather conditions as were experienced Wednesday help to prove it in an extraordinary manner.

While hoping for the best in a weather way the pessimist generally expects the worst. Therefore, those who never see anything worth while in life attach little importance to rain prospects at this time. But the optimist has his umbrella handy.

DIRECT TAX FOR SCHOOLS URGED

Larger Levies Advocated at Meeting of Ohio Teachers

CEDAR POINT — (Associated Press) — Recommendation that direct tax levies for the support of the schools, abolished by the state legislature during the last session, be re-established and made much larger than ever before was made by Superintendent John Schwartz of the Butler-co schools in an address before the convention of the Ohio State Teachers' Association here today.

Schwartz, whose address was a part of the association's campaign for a revision of the state's taxation system, declared that it is an obligation of the state to contribute to the upkeep of the schools and said that Ohio was far behind a number of other states in this respect.

"Ohio in the last few years has shown an emphatic determination to shift the burden of the support of the schools to each locality," said Schwartz, "yet it has shown an equal determination, and very properly, to establish standards and formulate school policies. Certainly there is very great inconsistency existing in this regard."

Besides being used for the aid of weak school districts, revenues obtained from direct state levies under Schwartz' plan would be used to aid in paying teacher salaries, tuition in both high and elementary schools, for transportation, construction and equipment of buildings and per capita support of the schools.

Other states are aiding their school systems in such manner, he said. In aiding weak school districts Mr. Schwartz recommended that equalization first be attempted in the counties themselves and then by the state, the county school board in each case to have charge of distribution of funds.

Each applicant for camp must undergo a physical examination to determine his fitness for the rigors of military training and in the event he has not already done so, must be immunized against typhoid and smallpox.

COURSES AVAILABLE

Four courses are offered at the citizen's camp site this year, Jones said. One class is devoted to those without previous military experience and consists of infantry drill exclusively.

If the second course, consisting of those with previous camp or military training, the applicant has the choice of either infantry, field artillery or cavalry instruction. This third course consists of special training for non-commissioned officers and who are willing to obligate themselves for future service in the reserves, national guard or regular army.

The fourth course consists of training class for prospective second lieutenants and instructions will be given in infantry, artillery or cavalry.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE AND POSSESSION OF HER CHILD

Fight for the possession of Little Juanita Thomas, 2, which has been waged between her parents for a year past, was finally won by Mrs. I. D. Thomas, who was divorced from Fredie Thomas, Ananda-ti farmer, in common pleas court Wednesday.

A year ago, Thomas is alleged to have driven his wife from her home and locked her out when she attempted to secure possession of the baby.

She was successful a few days afterward in winning temporary custody by court action, heard before Judge J. H. Hamilton.

The father may take the child to his parents' house one Sunday each month, according to terms of the decree.

CITY OFFICIALS INSPECT ESTATE REPORTED DAMAGED

City officials Tuesday paid a visit to the property owned by the estate of the late Lucinda V. Sherman at Elm and Pine-sts, for the purpose of learning the extent of the damage said to have been caused property when the city paved Elm-st bridge over the Ottawa river and up to Pine-st. E. Ellen Simonton, executrix for the estate, claims the city caused damage amounting to $2,490, which includes damaging sidewalks, fences and drain pipes.

Mayor Harold Cunningham said Wednesday the city considers the damages are excessive, but that it is the intention of the city to repair certain parts of the property. No action has been taken as to allowing damages.

YOUR MONEY SHOULD BE SO PLACED THAT IT WILL BE SAFE BOTH TODAY AND TOMORROW.

In the present period of unusual business activity and high prices in all lines, it is more necessary than ever to be careful in investing money. Five per cent interest is a liberal return where safety is absolute.

Among the financial institutions of Lima we are known as conducting a conservative business and paying five per cent on deposits. We place the additional profits into a adequate reserve, now more than $92,000.00, as a further protection for our depositors.

We propose to continue these policies and upon the basis of safety we seek your account.

Appeals for Court Backing in Salt Lake City Speech

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN—(Associated Press) — President Harding traveled into southwestern Utah today to visit Zion Park, the first of the three national play-grounds he plans to see during his western trip.

The entry point to the park selected by the president was Cedar City, and his train left for there shortly before midnight last night from Salt Lake City after the chief executive had concluded his sixth prepared address of the trip.

The audience which filled the big Mormon tabernacle, seating 12,000 and overflowed into the temple grounds, and the assembly hall nearby, heard the president discuss two subjects, one of which was taxation, which he selected prior to the beginning of his trip because of Utah being the home state of Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee. The other subject was the administration proposal for American membership in the permanent court of international justice and was discussed by him in an extemporaneous addition to his prepared address.

TAXATION SUBJECT

The president in the taxation portion of his address outlined what the American government has accomplished in decreasing government costs and taxation and appealing for decrease of expenditures and taxes by state, county and municipal governments. This portion of the president's discussion of taxation received the most applause.

"Keep your eye everlastingly on those who administer your government units for you; your town, your county, your state, your national government. Make them understand that you are applying the rule of thrift and savings in your personal affairs and require them to apply it in their management of your public affairs. If they fail, find other public servants who will succeed. If they succeed, give such encouragement and inspiration as will be represented by a full measure of hearty appreciation for their efforts."

WORLD COURT

In appealing for sentiment favoring American adhesion to the world court, the president aroused greater enthusiasm than in his discussion of the tax problem. The war, he said, had revealed the soul of America and given the nation an aspiration. But, he added, the United States under the stress of post war adjustment had drifted from its aspiration. "I want America to have something of a spiritual ideal," the chief executive then asserted. "I am seeking American sentiment in favor of an international court of justice. I want America to play her part in helping the world to abolish war."

Concluding his visit today to Zion City, the president will retrace his way northward and continue on to Idaho, where he will make two addresses, one at Pocatello and the other at Idaho Falls.

League Leaders Ask Extension of Territorial Waters

"3 MILE LIMIT OUT OF DATE"

Prohibition Campaign Planned at Westerville Meeting

WESTERVILLE, Ohio — (United Press) — Demands that President Harding wield the full force of the army and navy against liquor law violations, were made in resolutions passed before the $2,000,000 war council of national dry leaders here today.

Other resolutions called on the federal government to extend America's territorial waters 12 miles from shore to combat rum running on the Atlantic coast.

Administration hall, on the sleepy campus of Otterbein College today became the "dry capitol" of the United States as 50 high officials of the Anti-Slavery League resumed discussions preliminary to their renewed fight to dry up the country.

The League's general counsel, Wayne B. Wheeler, presented historical evidence intended to show the three-mile limit is out of date. His version is that the imaginary line three-miles from shore was drawn in the 18th century on the basis of the distance a coast defense cannon of that day would shoot.

Every dollar of the league's annual income of approximately $2,000,000 will be thrown into the war on state prohibition repealers. P. A. Baker, general superintendent declared in an interview with the United Press.

"Prohibition today is purely theoretical," said Baker. "Our campaign is to make it a reality."

"It may be 1830 before America is strictly arid but we are prepared to hold out as long as there is opposition."

Baker scored Canadian dries for "permitting Manitoba to vote wet and the wet trend in the last election in Ontario." The Dominion campaigners, he said, made a big mistake when they did not force the adoption of an interstate shipment law as a first step toward prohibition. The league's slogan for the present is "dry up America first." After that, instead of turning over its huge reform machine to other crusaders, the league intends to carry its dry fight abroad.

Baker replied to the suggestion that the wet enemy once defeated, the league might interest itself in anti-tobacco fight, by pointing out several cuspidors near the assembly room.

"The puffed cheeks you see here are not toothache," he said smiling. "No, our first virtue is sincerity."

NEWS OF PUTNAM-CO

OTTAWA TO HAVE
MAIL DELIVERYOrder Received for Establishment of Free Service

Ottawa is to have free mail delivery service, beginning September 1, according to information received Wednesday by Postmaster Stanley Kerr, from F. C. Staley, of the post-office department at Washington.

The service is contingent, however, on action of 85 percent of patrons in installing proper receptacles for mail. Every other condition has been met, according to Postmaster Kerr.

The government demands that sidewalks be in good condition and that lights be in operation, on the routes.

Twelve hundred will be served, according to Postmaster Kerr. The village council will meet Monday night, at which time an ordinance is expected to be passed, platting the town and providing for the numbering of houses.

Two deliveries a day will be made in residences and business districts.

The carriers will be chosen from the present list of eligible clerks and carriers of the Ottawa postoffice. They are Morris J. Hogan, George E. Laibe and Lee J. Moening.

Applications for the service was made two months ago. An inspector visited Ottawa in May and reported favorably on installation.

Postmaster Kerr says that the business men still will be able to receive their mail thru lock boxes and have mail intended for their families go upon the city delivery route. He figures it will make little change in receipts of the office, some of the call boxes, however, being dropped, he says.

They will receive their friends at their new home in Ottawa after July 4.

POLICE ACCUSE BOY OF BEING BICYCLE THIEF

Police Wednesday morning picked up a boy, 10, who is suspected of having committed a number of bicycle thefts in Lima. Police accuse him specifically of having taken a bicycle belonging to Edmund Ley, Western Union Telegraph Co. employee, whose wheel was stolen from in front of the Y. M. C. A. Monday.

The alleged theft was particularly bold, police say. The thief removed the wheels and handle bars and then returned the frame to the Y. M. C. A. building. Police Wednesday found the two wheels and the handle bars, which had been covered with tape in an attempt to avoid detection. The boy is being held at police station for juvenile authorities.

POLICE GET REPORT ON ROMING HOUSE ROBBERY

Charles Hartman and Guy Baldwin, staying at the Sullivan rooming house, 902 S. Main-st, reported to police Wednesday their rooms had been entered some time Monday night and clothing and other articles stolen. A man who roomed at the house for one week and who left town Tuesday is suspected of having taken the articles. Hartman and Baldwin told police.

Hartman says he missed a brown suit of clothes, a pair of patent leather shoes, 32 calibre blue steel U. S. revolver, while Baldwin says a suit of his clothes and two silk shirts are missing.

JUDGE EASTMAN GRANTS
DIVORCE IN URBAN CASE;
PRECEDENT ESTABLISHED

Before returning to his home in Van Wert Tuesday, after he had heard the divorce case of Mrs. Hazel Urban, of Leipsic, against her husband, George Urban, of Toledo, Judge H. W. Blachly granted Mrs. Urban a divorce and gave to her the care, custody and education of Jackie, five, son of the couple.

Urban must pay $450 a week for support of the child and is given the privilege of visiting his son.

Mrs. Urban did not seek alimony. The household goods now in storage at Toledo will revert to her by way of support money, according to H. P. Eastman, of Ottawa her attorney.

In her testimony, Mrs. Urban declared her husband had not purchased Jackie a suit of clothes and that his Christmas present to the boy last year was two pair of overalls and an Indian suit.

When questioned by Judge Blachly, Mrs. Urban said she had obtained employment in Toledo and did not expect to re-marry. Andrew Shaffner, of Leipsic, next door neighbor, testified that he had never known of her entertaining men friends since separated from Urban.

Judge Blachly set a precedent when he announced from the bench he wished it distinctly understood that he would not grant a divorce if it was for the purpose of hasty marriage by one of the parties with another.

Mrs. Urban said she and her child would go to reside with her mother, at Forest and Pinewood-avs, Toledo, and that later on Mrs. Mary Tilton, of Leipsic, grandmother of Mrs. Urban, was to join them and reside in their home.

FORCES LINE UP
FOR BATTLEFour Groups in Prospect in City
Commission Contest

Lima voters at the primary election August 14 will probably have their choice between four—more or less—distinct groups of candidates, who will be in the city commissioners' derby, according to indications.

Personal of one ticket, the committee of 200 selections, is already in the open. They are Colonel John A. Hartley and Harry L. Breckinridge, incumbents who seek second terms to aid in carrying on administration policies.

Their nomination is forecast by Judge Kent Hughes, on the basis of a canvas made by committee workers in obtaining signatures for the petitions for the two.

But other tickets will be out, political observers predict.

A bi-partisan slate, made up of one or more candidate from each of the principal political organizations is being framed, according to rumor. Names of the trial horses are being kept dark.

Another slate which promises to prove a serious contender is the labor citizens' ticket, organized it is said for the purpose of getting one or more commissioners elected who are south side residents. V. H. E. Singer, J. J. Rankin and Walter R. Toy, present county surveyor are being touted as entrants.

In addition several independent candidates are likely to run, it is stated. The list includes O. J. Roush, Joe Goebel and George Guyton.

DELPHOS COUNCIL GIVES
EAR TO OBJECTIONS FILED AGAINST STREET WORK

Delphos city council lent its ear to several irate property owners at the regular meeting Tuesday night in a listless session, the visitors affording the only interest.

Joseph Noll and Ed Plescher registered protests on proposed improvements, taking a rap at council's program on E. Fourth and E. Fifth-sts.

The discussion was provoked when Noll requested a showdown from council regarding the type of material proposed to be used on Fifth-st. President John Altenburger informed him council is not yet divulging the body for not being circumspect in proceeding with the improvement.

"There is too much paving. The laboring man has not a chance to pay for it. I might as well give my property away. Why don't you give us the thing we need most—waterworks facilities," Noll demanded.

Plescher objected to tearing up a perfectly good pike on E. Fourth-st to lay a pavement.

Legislation for the streets still pending. Councilman Ben Davis expressed the opinion that the Fifth-st project will not go thru this year.

In the only other matter before council the state highway department was given permission in a resolution to erect markers designating thru routes in Delphos. The Lincoln highway is affected.

PARKING QUESTION IS
MOOT ONE AT DELPHOS

Must drivers of horse-drawn vehicles park them at an angle when stopping at the curb to load or unload merchandise in Delphos?

The question, broached Tuesday night by John Lehmkuhle at a council meeting, intrigued the city dads.

It was finally decided, however, that if Dobbin backs his craft at right angles to the curb, 'twould be much better than easing into the mercantile harbors at an obtuse angle.

A suggestion from Clerk W. H. Shaffer that alleys be utilized was not countenanced. To many merchants say it is an impossibility, and thus Dobbin will continue the practice of squaring away at the curbs.

IMPROVEMENT WILL SPOIL
FIREMEN'S PLAY GROUND

The playground of the Delphos fire department, also of others who enjoy an occasional fling at horse-shoe, is doomed to go.

Paving of the alley midway between Main and Washington-sts from the Pennsylvania railroad to Third-st will wipe out the horse-shoe court at the west side of city hall, which for years has provided many with recreation.

The noble game of meadow quoits will be impossible on the bricks it is proposed to lay in the alley. It behooves firemen to find another location. None as yet has found space available, therefore flingers of the footgear are putting in as much time as possible twirling the luckpieces.

Service Director J. D. Spellman reported at council meeting Tuesday night that legislation for the improvement has not been prepared.

GOAL IN MEMBER DRIVE

That goal has been decided upon because the Aerle will then be in position to maintain its own physician.

Applications of another group of candidates will be voted on at a meeting of the Aerle Wednesday night. They will be given the de-ge work Tuesday night.

WHITFIELD "SEEN" AGAIN
IN DELPHOS TERRITORY

Following a report from Rockford that a man answering the description of John Whitfield, wanted in Cleveland for killing a policeman, was seen there, Sheriff Terry and Deputy Doley of Van Wert halted all autos on the road from Ohio City to Van Wert Tuesday afternoon.

According to the information they received the man inquired the way to Van Wert and also Ft. Wayne.

A Toledo man named Browning, a salesman, was halted by the officers, but he afterward proved his identity. However, these reports were proven groundless when it was authoritatively announced that Whitfield had been captured.

SELL HER PROPERTY.

Mrs. Jeannette Allison, Toledo, has sold her property, lot 455 and a house, on S. Main-st, Delphos, to John R. Berryhill. The new owner has begun extensive repairs to the property. He will enlarge the structure and make it one of the most up-to-date in South Delphos.

DELPHOS FIGHT CARD IS NOT YET COMPLETE

Completion of the fight card which will be the big attraction at the Delphos park celebration July 4 still hangs fire, according to the Kiwanis committee supervising the arrangements. Two preliminary bouts are yet to be announced.

The committee discussed seating arrangements at a meeting Tuesday night. Considerable work will be entailed in arranging the seats under the tent to be erected on the E. of C. building site, Main-st.

Prices of admission and other details remain to be looked after. It has not been announced whether Referee Charles Maxwell, of Lima, will make the decisions or whether judges will be appointed.

POLICE PICK UP YOUTH
ON PAROLE FROM SCHOOL
FOR NIGHT LOITERING

Earl Lucas, 17, of 709 W. Burak-st on parole from the boys' industrial home at Lancaster is again in the toils, this time for loitering.

Lucas was found Tuesday night in an apartment building in course of construction. He is being held for juvenile authorities.

Lucas, when asked by police what he had been doing during the last few weeks, said he left Saturday for Kansas to work in the harvest fields, but that his feet became sore and he returned to Lima Tuesday. He told police he rode to Kansas on a passenger train.

Police reports show that Lucas last January confessed to having taken part in a series of petty thefts in grocery stores in the city. He probably will be returned to Lancaster, police state.

REAL ESTATE MEN OPTIMISTIC

Business Outlook Discussed at Cleveland Convention

TRANSFERS ON INCREASE

Boards of All Parts of U. S. and Canada Represented

CLEVELAND—(Associated Press)—Housing shortage, rentals, mortgages, the country's finances, farm and policies and various other subjects related to the real estate profession will be discussed at the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards which opened here today. Realtors from all over the United States and Canada are in attendance.

The convention program is the most comprehensive and exhaustive ever presented at a national gathering of real estate men, according to officials of the association.

The convention was called to order by President L. F. Eppich, of Denver. Addresses of welcome and responses were followed by talks on "A General Survey of Real Estate Conditions," by Melvin L. Morse of Wellesley Hills, Mass., and "The Present Financial Outlook" by Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Ohio.

Speakers on the afternoon program included Dr. Richard T. Ely, Madison, Wis.; A. W. Swayne, Chicago; Goodwin Gibson, Toronto; S. S. Thorpe, Minneapolis and Frank Ryan, Los Angeles.

The board of directors yesterday approved plans for a correspondence course in real estate, with the object of further raising the standards of the profession.

INCREASE IN TRANSFERS

Records of the deeds filed in eight of the largest cities show that 69 per cent more real estate is being transferred today than in the average year previous to 1917, declared Morse. Morse's talk was based on questionnaires issued to all real estate boards by the National Association in May. The replies provided a great fund of definite information concerning real estate conditions from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Morse in summing up the reports said that the views of the great majority of real estate men today are distinctly optimistic. He emphasized the fact that fundamental trends of real estate conditions are directly dependent on the trend of general business conditions. The two, he said, are inseparably bound and react upon one another.

This point was emphasized, he said, because the fundamental business outlook of the country is not entirely favorable. He forecasted some depressions for general business.

Mr. Morse, however, predicted that there will not be a precipitate drop in new building and general real estate activity but that the decline would take the form of a series of steps.

SHOWMEN ARRESTED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

A M. Ray, Portsmouth and Harry Wilson, Kentucky, owners of a wild animal show exhibition at McCullough park, were arrested by police Tuesday afternoon on a disorderly conduct charge. They started an argument on N. Jefferson-st. Ray has only one arm and when police arrived they found him using his teeth to good advantage in a dispute with his opponent. Wilson also used his teeth when able to. Police said Ray had been drinking. They were taken before Judge Jackson following their arrest and the court ordered them to get out of the city immediately. They were released.

FRENCH, BRITISH SPLIT MAY BRING WORLD WAR

These Differences Declared by Writer to Be Real Secret Behind Failure of Paris and Berlin to Come to Terms Over Reparations Question

(By WILLIAM SOMMERS)

ENGLAND and France have locked horns in what may prove to be a life and death struggle for supremacy in Europe.

Cooler heads in the two countries may yet combine to save the situation, but the indications are that unless powerful neutral influences can be brought to bear, it is difficult to see how the existing rivalry, open and bitter, can fail to develop a serious peril to the peace of the world.

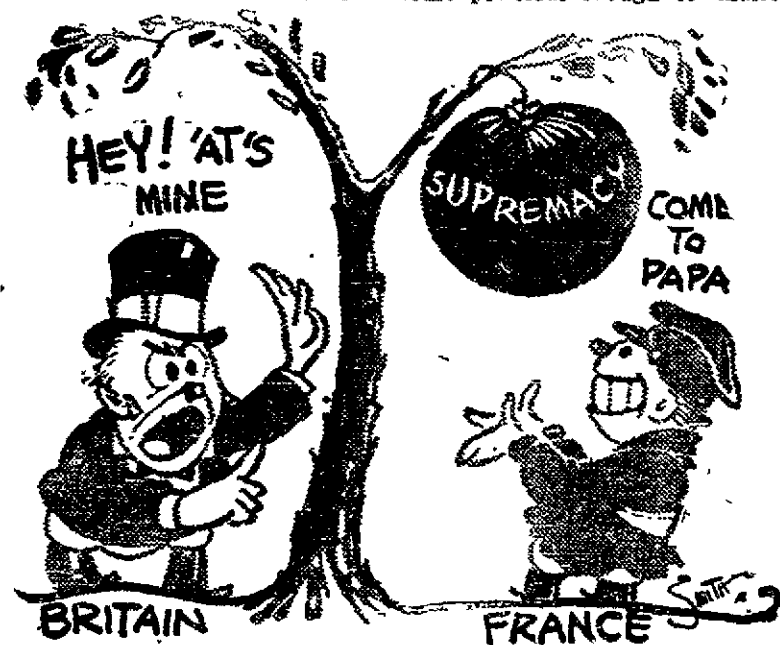

This rivalry—political as well as economic—is the real secret behind the failure of France and Germany to come to terms over the reparations question. Germany would never have dared face a uniting Europe politically as well as economically.

For without them in plenty no nation can successfully compete with a neighbor possessing them—neither in peace nor in war. So reasons the Britisher.

Given these, and France's present powerful military machine, the world's strongest air fleet, the best artillery and ample chemical plants for an intensive chemical warfare, England's hold on the "balance of power" in Europe has been utterly destroyed.

"What is this balance of power?" I asked the French. They replied it is nothing more than a system whereby no nation or group of nations in Europe is permitted to become powerful enough to challenge ed France and Britain. She would have come to terms long ago.

The two elements composing the rivalry—politics and economics—are hopelessly scrambled, like whites and yolks of eggs in an omelette.

You cannot make war successfully without plenty of coal and iron and steel. Nor can a trading nation like the United Kingdom go very far economically if hopelessly outstripped by a neighbor in the production of these vital commodities.

COAL FIGURES

This said, and remembering France is now in control of most of Germany's coal and iron and steel industries, cast your eyes over this:

France and Germany together produce in excess of 30,000,000 tons of pig iron annually as against the United Kingdom's 10,000,000 tons—more than three times as much.

France and Germany together produce about 20,000,000 tons of steel annually as against the United Kingdom's little more than 6,000,000 tons. Again the ratio of three to one.

In coal output they are about equal, with about 270,000,000 tons a year. But that does not complete the story. Since 1885 the United Kingdom has been able to increase its output only 66 per cent while Germany increased hers by 202 per cent and France by 96 per cent.

Furthermore Germany and France have a larger supply. Of the known coal deposits the United Kingdom will have dug her last ton in less than 300 years, at the present rate, while France can go on for 500 years and Germany for 1000.

IRON DEPOSITS

Of the iron deposits in Europe it is calculated that France and Germany together have about six times as much as the British Isles—some 7,500,000,000 tons as against 1,300,000,000.

Nations plan a long time ahead if they are to survive, and England is notoriously far-sighted. Hence it is she sees France in control of the bulk of these economic necessities and with them completely dominat-

British supremacy.

The French claim Britain wishes Germany to "come back" so she can play Germany against France, using one to offset the other, while Britain makes off with the goods.

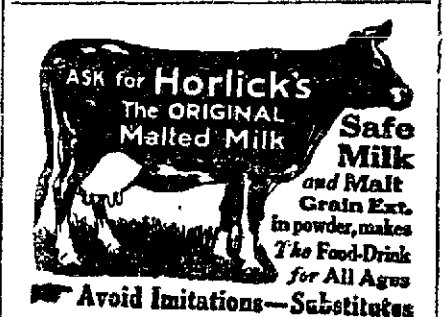

Should France follow the British plan of reparations, the French say, Germany would be strong enough successfully to defy France long before she fairly started to pay up, whereupon Britain would have the say whether France should live or die.

Hence the bitterness on both sides. And a grave peril to Europe and the world.

WHITFIELD UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Cleveland Policeman Shot Self, Accused Slayer Says

DENIES MURDER OF OFFICER

Fugitive Taken by Surprise, Arrested at Detroit

DETROIT — (Associated Press)—John L. Whitfield whose capture here last night ended a chase that has extended thru Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, denies that he killed Dennis Griffin, Cleveland policeman, for whose slaying he is wanted in the Ohio city.

Locked in a cell here under heavy guard, Whitfield told officers that Griffin, who had Whitfield under arrest and was driving him to a police station, accidentally shot himself and left the automobile to have the wound dressed.

He said he knew nothing of what happened to the officer thereafter. "I started to drive to a corner to tell a traffic officer about it," Whitfield is quoted as saying, "but something happened to change my mind."

He said he intended to return to Cleveland Saturday and give himself up. He is said to have admitted intimacy with Marie Price, who is soon to become a mother, but said he did not know she was only fourteen years old.

Whitfield was held incommunicado last night. Officers were reticent about discussing the arrest.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE
Detective Lieutenant Charles O. Nevil of the Cleveland police force, directed 25 heavily armed local police who surrounded a lumber yard here where Whitfield was employed. Nevil made the arrest, overruling Whitfield with a revolver before the captive had a chance to flee.

Griffin was never seen alive after he started for Cleveland police station with Whitfield, who had been placed under arrest on a warrant charging theft of some spark plugs. The patrolman's body, stripped of its clothes, was found in a shallow grave outside Cleveland several days later.

Whitfield, according to officers, will waive extradition to Cleveland. CLEVELAND—(Associated Press)—John L. Whitfield, arrested in Detroit late yesterday, will be placed on trial on an indictment charging him with the first degree murder of Patrolman Dennis Griffin as soon as possible, County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton stated today. This, it is expected, will be about July 15.

Under the law, Whitfield cannot be arraigned until 24 hours after a copy of the indictment has been served on him. Then he is allowed about fifteen days in which to prepare a defense.

Detective Edward Conroy was dispatched to Detroit to assist Detective Lieutenant Charles O. Nevil in bringing the prisoner back. He was given orders to take no chances with Whitfield and to "use your gun." The officers may return here with him this today.

Altho Whitfield waived extradition, papers for his return were made out by the prosecutor's office. The law requires their preparation, Stanton said.

The tip on which Whitfield was arrested was received by Chief of Police Jacob Graul about noon yesterday from another employee in the Detroit lumber yard where Whitfield was employed. He told only two officers of it. One was Lieutenant Nevil, who has been working on Whitfield clues since his disappearance May 11, and half an hour later Nevil was enroute to Detroit.

Because of the secrecy maintained by Chief Graul, it was a surprised and happy police department that learned of the fugitive's capture.

PLANS FOR AIR MAIL SERVICE COMPLETED

CLEVELAND—Arrangements here for the thru air mail service between New York and San Francisco, which will be started about August 1, have been completed by James I. Davis, of Washington, assistant superintendent of the railway mail service. The 3,000 miles will be covered by fourteen planes, which will travel in laps, in about twenty-eight hours flying time.

The planes will fly by night between Chicago and Cheyenne, Wyoming, Mr. Davis said. The aviators will be guided by Beacons capable of piercing difficult atmospheric conditions and of being seen 50-miles. Emergency fields have been located and will be lighted every twenty-five miles over the prairie.

THE EDITOR TELLS HOW

OUR esteemed evening contemporary is peeved because our distinguished City Commission does not admit that the editor knows more about running a police department, than our efficient Chief Lanker.

It reminds much of President Harding, when after two years in the Senate, he found it was easier to run the government from his Marion sanctum than from his seat in the august Senate chamber.

When a series of burglaries such as Lima has undergone the past few days, blazes forth upon the public sensational newspapers always damn the police. It is newspaper technique that when things are dull, start a scandal with the police or the hospitals.

Lima has been running a champagne city on a beer income for the last two years. It is no fault of the police, the fire, the street cleaning department, or the City Commission. It is the fault of the public, which has not provided sufficient funds to maintain a competent organization for a growing town.

Rather than damn the Commission or Mr. Lanker, we suggest our esteemed evening competitor start a fund to employ just the kind of patrolmen, with the correct swagger and the proper height, weight and girth.

This paper would be very glad if the police reformer editor finds just the type of patrolman who can prevent burglaries, to subscribe his salary for the summer months, when burglaries annually become the great indoor sport.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL FATHER

WHO is the most successful father in Lima? There are few who would care to attempt to answer the question, but there are scores and hundreds of successful fathers in this city, measured by different standards. All have attained success in one way or another and have done much for their families.

As a matter of getting down to fundamentals in this discussion, an interesting father has been found in Boston. He has never earned more than $12 a week. On this small wage he and his hard working wife have raised and educated nine children. This father now can rest on his laurels for all nine are working and their combined salaries total $360 a week.

This income doesn't put them in the millionaire class, not by a long shot. But if ever a man made a real success of life, it is this Boston father. There are millions like him—hard pluggers denying themselves to give their children "a better chance." They are the backbone of America who never step down to the footlights to receive a bouquet.

SUPERSTITION DYING OUT

A GENERAL survey of conditions indicates that superstition is on its last legs and in the not far distant future will have become almost a thing unknown. It is possible to find some who will not walk under a ladder, light three cigarettes from one match, start a journey or business venture on Friday or do a lot of other things that once were considered "bad luck," but the ranks are thinning.

One superstition that held sway thruout the world about opals bringing ill luck, started back in 1829 by a Sir Walter Scott novel, is losing its hold. Lima jewelers declare and this condition is said to be general. Opals are becoming popular, few people afraid of them.

It is encouraging to see superstition slipping. It dates back centuries and was manifest in many ways. Look about you and notice the disappearing signs of this throwback to barbarism. How long has it been since you noticed a horseshoe nailed upside down over a door for good luck. Americans don't believe in bad luck as much as they used to, but for that matter we are getting so we don't believe much in anything except the rush and bustle and chase of the almighty dollar.

YOUR DUST PROBLEM

WHILE the cooling breezes are greatly appreciated these hot days in Lima, they "kick up" a lot of dust since we have no regular sprinkling system to keep it down and Jup Phiv has been on vacation. This dust is the bane of the housewife and constitutes one of her biggest problems. And those who must spend their days in the downtown area often are treated to a real sandstorm.

It will not lessen the annoyance, perhaps, but it is interesting to know that officials of a Chicago laboratory have just discovered that it takes six million bits of dust to cover a glass plate one inch square. Tell me.

—BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY—

THE DANGER OF HAVING CONCUSSION

The mythical "brain fever" of the novelist is by no means obsolete. I encountered a fresh case of it in an other wise fairly satisfactory murder story only the other day, rather the unsophisticated author threatened one of his characters with "brain fever" if the luckless character was excited or annoyed in any way. Heroes or heroines of the old time novels seldom failed to develop "brain fever" when the emotion reached a fateful pitch. They did this as readily as they swooned out of difficult situations. There was great days for authors!

In one way it is regrettable that "brain fever" has become generally known as meningitis and that meningitis is a matter of germs getting into the skull somehow and infecting the lining of the skull and covering of the brain. An ugly thought for a hero or heroine under emotional stress. The germs of meningitis are commonly conveyed in the spray given off from nose and mouth of a talking person who is a carrier. So that accounts for the brain fever.

Concussion is about as mysterious and impressive to the lay mind today as "brain fever" was to the old time novel reader. Just what this concussion is I am unable to define or describe very closely. It is something like Conan Doyle's ectoplasm, I gather, palpable only to the elect. Concussion is the vague, anxious, uncertain stage between the shock following a head injury and the coma or unconsciousness which occurs from fracture of the skull or from hemorrhage within the skull and pressure of the blood clot upon the brain. Concussion may well be classified with nervous breakdown and a heavy cold—all but pending a definite diagnosis.

There is nothing whatever gained by substituting the term concussion for shock. The shock following an injury to body or limb is precisely the same condition as the shock following an injury to the head. Why drag in a confusing and sometimes seriously misleading term? There is no such condition as concussion apart from ordinary shock. To conjure a fanciful stupor or coma from that cause, in the presence of possible fracture of the skull or bleeding within the skull is simply sacrificing the patient's chance of recovery by prompt surgical intervention. An imaginary "concussion" drifting along for days without an interval of consciousness is almost certainly skull fracture; in such circumstances it is wise to forget the "concussion" and tune up the trephine. Just paste this little note somewhere in your medicine cupboard or your scrapbook: There is no such condition as "concussion of the brain;" that is what makes it such a dangerous condition to have. JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

THE GOLDEN USED TO BE

When time shall beat
The slow retreat
From littered desk and city street.
When worn and gray,
I turn away,
Then I shall live with Yesterday.

Then I shall rest
From every test,
My sun just fading in the west;
The past will be
Aglow for me
With glorious faces I shall see.

And who can say,
Perhaps Today
Along the future's winding way
Will find my door,
And shine once more
With splendor brighter than before.

With all the throng
I rush along
Too tense for laughter and for song;
Yet in my brain
Some blitting strain
Of old-time music may remain.

Life holds us fast
Unto the last
And all the need for strife is past;
Then older grown,
We sit alone
With all the pleasures we have known.

But looking back
Along life's track,
We loose the strings 'round Memory's pack.

With eyes aglow,
Once more we know
The happiness of long ago.

When hearth fires burn
Old friends return,
Joy is lost for which we yearn,
And age can find
There shines behind
Charm to which his youth was blind.

Too near today
Are mirth and play,
Too swift the pace, too rough the way,
Yet some day we Shall turn and see
Each golden joy which used to be

Motorman's Wife Testifies

Mrs. Geo. Abbott, 805 Irving St., Olean, N. Y., says: "Sometime ago, I was badly constipated and ran down. I had a tired, worn out feeling and terrible headaches and dizzy spells. I lost my appetite and my food soured on my stomach forming gas. I started using Pema-day Vegetable Laxative Pills and they soon cured me up in fine shape and made me feel as well as ever. I now eat better, sleep better and enjoy life in general." Twenty are cents at all druggists.—Adv.

In Blisters On Face, Arms and Neck. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered with eczema for six years. It broke out in water blisters, then a regular rash, and my face, arms and neck were affected. The itching and burning were very severe, and I scratched and irritated the affected parts so badly that I could not stand my clothes to touch them. I got very little sleep for months. My doctor advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which I did. They helped me, I continued using them, and in three months I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. I. F. Wager, Honey Creek, Iowa.

LOVE UNCHANGED FROM STONE TO BOOTLEG ERA

(BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM)
 LOVE, with its tribulations and stratagems, has remained unchanged from the stone period of the bootleg era, we are informed by way of theme in "Buster Keaton's latest picture, "The Three Ages."

It is just as safe to assume that man's sense of humor is equally unchangeable—that Mr. Stouchevitch's fables were stirred by the same antics which today buy shoes for Buster's baby.

And so Keaton, who has come to this conclusion in his melancholy ways, keeps the three-act farce so patently attached to comic elements that all who run may laugh. Subplots are almost superfluous in "The Three Ages." There are some no-score, but they might be reduced to half a dozen without making action or intent obscure.

Tracing the rough course of love thru the Stone, Roman and Modern times, its doleful exponent and victim comes close to achieving that sheer pantomime to which it so seldom adheres for lack of cleverness.

It is this power of being specific, of being adroit in suggestion, thru a medium in which many meander in the clutch of explanatory words, that indicates Keaton's future place in the cinematic sun.

The picture, a Joseph M. Schenck production for Metro, is one of the most elaborately staged comedies ever filmed, the Roman sets being as sumptuous as if designed for a super-drama. Thru six reels the hilarious episodes of the three periods are synchronized without a hitch. The gags are refreshingly novel and are precipitated at unknown angles.

The main thread of the comedy, showing how little lovers, obdurate parents and deep-eyed villains have changed thru the ages, cater to that laughter which comes from recognizing an old situation in new guise.

Along in ludicrous contrast to our pet modernisms incorporated in primitive and medieval surroundings—like golf on the neolithic green, safety locks and license numbers on Roman chariots, the situation of Buster's last will, on the eve of a duel, to a prehistoric geographer.

The situation getting the longest laugh from tryout audiences result-

"Why Men Leave Home" Attracts Crowds to Faurot

Managers Hawkins and Bull know the value of entertainment is manifested by the large crowds the stock company is drawing to the Faurot opera house this week, where "Why Men Leave Home" is the attraction. By local notices of dramatic art, it has been rated as the most fascinating and entertaining play the company has staged. The management is being congratulated on the merit of their productions and their efforts in giving Lima people the best is being rewarded by increasing patronage at every performance.

"Why Men Leave Home" is just a sort of play that will make one long in memory. It tells the tale of a man who has been married three times. The wives return after a gay social year in Europe, to find their husbands have been having a rather gay social time themselves. After many humorous and complicated situations, all are reconciled, but not before a lesson in domesticity is brought home to all.

Alex Macintosh, Richard Earle, George Whitaker, Misses Florence Lewin, Eva Sargent and May Wilson have the leading roles.

Next week the company will present Cleve Kinkadee's powerful dramatic thunderbolt, "Common Clay." This piece was awarded the prize at Harvard University for the best play written. Its success in stock companies has been paramount and offers the players some very fine opportunities for real acting, it is stated.

ST. MARYS AGITATED AT REPORTS OF T. AND O. C. TERMINAL MOVE TO LIMA

Citizens of St. Marys met Tuesday evening in public mass meeting to take action against the proposed withdrawal of the T. & O. C. Railroad terminal to Lima, it is reported.

The chamber of Commerce at St. Marys, according to information received at the Board of Commerce, called the meeting to discuss the advisability of pledging freight and passenger service to the T. & O. C. Railroad as a preventative of any move to Lima.

Other railroads in the city, alarmed at the possibility of an injury to their business appealed to Lima interests to ally the fears of the St. Marys' citizens, it was reported at the Board of Commerce.

THE RED REDMAYNES

BY EDEN PHILPOTTS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

husband of Jenny Pender, disappeared from his home in the town of Redmayne, Ohio, on the morning of the 10th of June, 1922. He is said to have been seen in the town of Redmayne, Ohio, on the morning of the 10th of June, 1922. He is said to have been seen in the town of Redmayne, Ohio, on the morning of the 10th of June, 1922.

Now go on with the story. Bendigo Redmayne grunted. "Come in and see the letter," he said. "I never thought you'd fail."

"All very terrible indeed and I'm damned if I understand anything about it. But one fact is clear; my brother wrote this letter and he wrote it from Plymouth, and since he hasn't been reported from Plymouth, I feel very little doubt the thing he wanted to happen has happened."

Then he turned to his niece. "We'll have a cup of tea in half an hour, Jenny. Meantime I'll take Mr. Brendon up to the tower room along with me."

Mrs. Pender disappeared into the house and Mark followed her with the sailor. They passed through a square hall full of various foreign curiosities collected by the owner. Then they ascended into a large, octagonal chamber, like the lantern of a lighthouse, which surrounded the dwelling.

"My lookout," explained Mr. Redmayne. "In foul weather I spend all my time up here and with my strong, three-inch telescope I can pick up what's doing at sea. A hunk in the corner, you see, I often sleep up here, too."

"You might almost as well be dead," said Brendon, and the remark pleased Bendigo.

"That's how I feel; and I can tell you there's a bit of movement, too, sometimes. I never wish to see a hunk of water than these cliffs during the south-easter last March. We shook to our keel, I can tell you."

He went to a tall cupboard in a corner, unlocked it and brought out a square, wooden desk of old-fashioned pattern. This he opened and produced a letter which he handed to the detective.

"Dear Bendigo, all over I've been in Michael Pender and put me in where only Judgment Day will find me. Something drove me to do it but all the same I'm sorry it's done—not for him but myself. I shall clear tonight, with, for France. If I can send an address later I will. Look after Jenny—she's well rid of the blighter. When things have blown over I may be back. Tell Albert and tell Plo. Yours, "R. R."

Brendon examined the letter and the envelope that contained it. "Have you another communication—something from the past I can compare with this?" he asked. Bendigo nodded.

"I reckoned you'd want that," he answered and produced a second letter from his desk. "It related to Robert Redmayne's engagement to be married and this thing was identical."

"And what do you think he's done, Mr. Redmayne?" Brendon asked, pocketing the two communications.

"I think he's done what he hoped to. At this time of year you'll find a dozen Spanish and Britany boats lying down by the harbor at Plymouth, every day of the week. And if poor Bob got there, I doubt plenty of chaps would hide him when he offered 'em money enough to make it worth while. Once aboard one of those sloops, he'd be out of the country."

brother know at once. It's a very ugly thing for his family. He did good work in the war and not honor; and if he's mad, then the war made him mad."

"That would be taken very fully into account, be sure. I'm sorry both for him and for you, Mr. Redmayne."

Bendigo looked sulkily from under his tangled eyebrows. "I shouldn't feel no very great call to give him up to the living death of an asylum if he were in here some night."

"You'd do your duty—that I will bet," replied Brendon. They descended to the dining-room, where Jenny Pender was waiting for them. All were very silent and Mark had leisure to observe the young widow.

"What shall you do and where may I count upon finding you if I want you, Mrs. Pender?" he asked presently.

She looked at Redmayne, not at Brendon, as she answered. "I am in Uncle Bendigo's hands. I know he will let me stop here for the present."

"For keeps," the old sailor declared. "This is your home now, Jenny, and I'm very glad to have you here. There's only you and your Uncle Albert and me now, I reckon, for I don't think we shall ever see poor Bob again."

An elderly woman came in. "Doris be wishful to know when you'll want the boat," she said. "I should like it immediately if possible," begged Brendon. "Much time has been lost."

"Tell them to get aboard, then," directed Bendigo, and in five minutes Mark was taking his leave. "I'll let you have the earliest intimation of the capture, Mr. Redmayne," he said. "If your brother still lives, it seems impossible that he should long be free. His present condition must be one of great torment and anxiety—to him—and for his own sake I hope he will soon surrender or be found if not in England, then in France."

"Thank you," answered the older man quietly. "What you say is true. I regret the delay myself. If he is heard of again by me, I'll telegraph to Scotland Yard, or get 'em to do so at Dartmouth. I've slung a telephone wire into the town as you see."

They stood again under the flagstaff on the plateau, and Brendon studied the rugged cliff line and the fields of corn that sloped away inland above it. The district was very lonely and only the roofline of a solitary farmhouse appeared a mile or more distant to the west.

"If he should come to you—and I have still a fancy that he may do so—take him in and let us know," said Brendon. "Such a necessity will be unappealably painful, I fear, but I am very sure you will not shrink for it, Mr. Redmayne."

The round old man had grown more amiable during the day's visit. It was clear that a natural aversion for Brendon's business no longer extended to the detective himself.

"Duty's duty," he said, "though God keep me from yours. If I can do anything, you may trust me to do it. He's not likely to come here, I think, but he might try and get over to Albert down south. Goodbye to you."

Was a Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble which became chronic. LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO MRS JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON, CONTINUED

I just had to smile, mother dear, when that old woman rang in her death-bed bunkum, and I had all I could do not to say to her that she reminded me of those western bad men who considered it a disgrace not to die with their boots on.

I think, perhaps, that would have been the last of me if I had done it for as it was I did put my foot in it dreadfully by saying:

"I am sorry that Miss Bradford sent the telegram because it worried Jack frightfully particularly as it was impossible for him to come."

At this that splinter stepped forward and remarked with more or less rancor, "I am sure, Mrs. Prescott, that had you seen Mr. Prescott's mother night before last you would have thought she was going to die."

"What was the nature of her illness?" I inquired. Thereupon the old lady broke down and sobbed as she said, "John has broken my heart, John has broken my heart!"

I must have looked somewhat surprised for she thrust a letter into my hand which it seems John had written to his mother, in which he had told her some wholesome truths. It seemed that back-biting Priscilla Bradford had seen me that night at the Frolic with Karl and she wrote full particulars, as she saw it, to mother-in-law.

I was so angry at that old maid when I read the letter that I could have annihilated her on the spot, but oh how I did glory in Jack's spunk! He just told his mother he would not allow anyone, not even her, to say anything about me.

Just as soon as he comes home tonight, mother, you kiss him for me and tell him he is the best ever, won't you?

Don't you think my apartment is lovely? I think that I will come home tomorrow and help you enjoy it in the meantime this old woman here does not think up some other way to keep me here and make me perfectly uncomfortable.

She keeps no maids, but she will not let me help her "dear Priscilla" do anything. Seems to think I am not capable of it and I'll tell the world that "dear Priscilla" is no cook.

Last night I had fried steak, plain boiled potatoes and soggy apple pie for dinner: I was a little catty, mother dear, and said as I refused the steak that I never ate fried meat of any kind. When asked if I did not like pie, I answered, that unless pie crust was particularly flakey and light it gave me dyspepsia.

If looks could have killed, I would have been a corpse then and there from "dear Priscilla's" glances. I am being rather flippant, mother dear, because I really am very unhappy.

Poor Jack! How dreadful he must feel to have such a mother and all the while she thinks he owes her everything and tells me very plainly that she lost her son completely when he married me.

I am going to call Jack up tonight and talk to him. On what he says will depend whether I start home tomorrow or not.

Love, LESLIE.

TOMORROW: Leslie calls up her husband—Words not for her ears.

GLADLY INDORSES PLANT JUICE

Feeling Better Than in Years Since Taking the Herbal Medicine

RELIEVED STOMACH TROUBLE

"I am feeling better than for years since taking your Plant Juice medicine and am more than pleased to make this public statement about Plant Juice after what it did for me," said Mrs. Mary Stewart, of 1514 Wells street, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

MRS. MARY STEWART while talking with The Plant Juice Man recently.

"For two years I had suffered with my stomach," Mrs. Stewart continued. "I had had pains and pains in my back and between my shoulders. The least thing I ate would cause me to bloat and be in distress with pains around my heart and shortness of breath. I had a sluggish liver and felt tired out as a result so that it was an effort for me to get anything done. At night, I was restless and couldn't sleep. I was always constipated; had headache a great deal of the time; kept losing weight every day and just didn't know what to do for I had spent a great deal of money for different medicines but without benefit."

"Then I heard about your Plant Juice and started taking it and am now feeling better than in years. My appetite is improved and my food does not distress me as it did before so that I do not have the gas pains now. I am not so nervous and sleep fine and the constipation has been relieved. I have gained weight also and, after what Plant Juice did for me, I am glad to make this public statement and recommend it."

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of the remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store opposite Post Office—Adv.

Cutshaw Is Still Hitting 'Em

"Old Ironsides" they call him. And that's just what George Cutshaw of the Detroit Tigers is.

For when the going is the toughest and crucial moments in the game arrive, it's good old "Cuttie" who steadies his mates and prevents them from faltering in the punch. Situations mean nothing to the veteran. In fact, he just does on them.

When Cutshaw came to the Tigers from the Pittsburg Pirates in 1922, he came with an "all thru" label attached. The wisecracker figured he was "done", all ready for the trash heap. But Cutshaw, by playing a top notch game for the Cobblers all season, proved opinion in general was way wrong.

This year, Detroit obtained Derrell Pratt to use at the Kristine cushion, apparently as a strengthening measure. And "Cuttie" was to be kept in the main as a coach for the youngsters. But Cutshaw has been in there a great deal of the time showing his same old stellar brand of ball.

Today, Cutshaw, the "old-timer," is one of Cobb's first lieutenants. And has a great deal to say regarding the play of the Tigers. When in the game he directs the work of

Tommy To Meet New Style

Here's a second article by Johnny Kilbane, former featherweight champion of the world, on the forthcoming Dempsey-Gibbons fight.

It was written right at the front in Shelby. In it Kilbane tells just what Tommy will have to do on July 4 to wrest the title from Champion Jack.

(BY JOHNNY KILBANE)
SHELBY, Mont., — (Special) — One fact concerning the Dempsey-Gibbons battle here July 4 that most of the sporting writers on the ground seem to have overlooked is that Gibbons will be handicapped in going up against a brand of fighter absolutely new to him.

On the other hand, Tommy's brand of fighting is old stuff to the champion.

Dempsey is given little credit for ability as a boxer, but in boxing, as in fighting, he has developed his own peculiar style, and he can make it count surprisingly well. Unlike Gibbons and other fighters who are known for their boxing ability, Dempsey does not maintain a boxing posture. But he can hit from all angles with blows that have the wallop.

JACK TEARS UP
This ability is very likely to confuse Gibbons. Just as Georges Carpentier was confused at Jersey City, when he tried to box the champion and found facefuls of gloves shooting at him from all sorts of unexpected places.

Dempsey is always tearing in. If Gibbons tries to box him he will have to do more than step back before Jack's onslaught because the champion always will be on top of him with a savage attack.

Gibbons' strategy will have to consist of side-stepping the champion's rushes and trying him thus in the early rounds. Straight retreat before the champion will only mean that Dempsey will get greater leverage on his punches.

DEMPEY GOOD GUARD

In Carpentier, Dempsey met a man who, like Gibbons, was depending only on his superior speed and boxing ability to win.

Dempsey knows from experience the sort of attack he may expect from Gibbons. Tommy, on the other hand, never has fought a man of Dempsey's type—a man of Dempsey's unstopable aggressiveness.

But he has one advantage—he has met men who have handed him punishment in large doses and he has come up smiling. Dempsey, to date, never has fought a man who really hurt him.

Gibbons' chances will depend almost entirely on his ability to top his left jabbing to his opponent's face to stop Dempsey as much as possible from getting set for one of his rushes, and to block the champion's wicked left hook.

That was the blow which started Carpentier on the way to defeat. And that is the blow Dempsey depends upon most to win his battles.

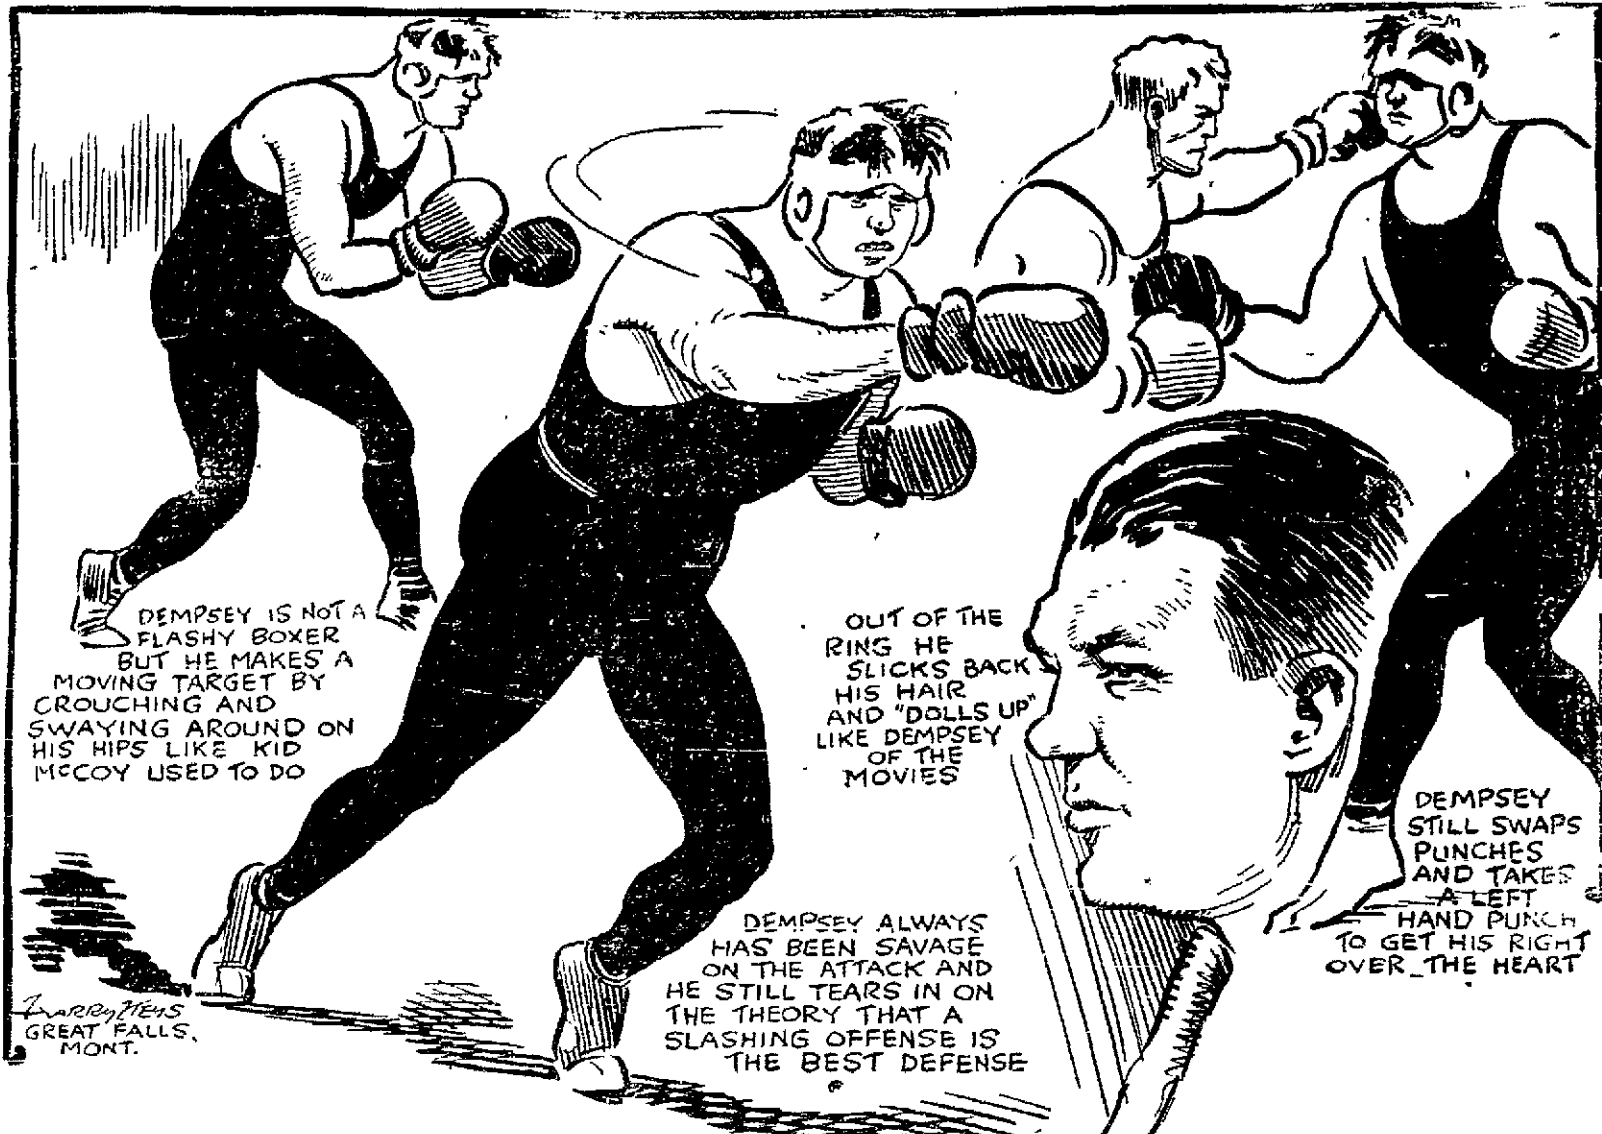

The inner defense, and few heavy plays are pulled with the veteran boxing the situation.

Truly, Cutshaw is a most valuable asset to the Cobb machine in its fight for the pennant. His brains, coupled with his knowledge of the pastime and long years of experience, stand the Tigers in mighty good stead.

"Old Ironsides" they call him. The application is well applied.

Local Boys
To Seek Title

Youthful tennis enthusiasts of this city not yet developed to the calibre of champions but holding lofty ambitions as to future success will be given an opportunity to show their wares in tournament play when the action at College Field, Wednesday.

Over 50 boys are entered at the present time but it is expected by R. J. Theibert, playground director, that several more will be entered. This is the first attempt at a junior tennis tournament and Theibert wants every youth who is interested in the game to sign up for the tournament.

Tennis has been a wonderful success in the play center this year and the tourney should ever increase the interest in the game. The five courts at the college are filled most of the day. No set time will be made for the playing of games as several of those entered are occupied at various times. Matches will be played by mutual understanding of the time.

GIRLS WILL PLAY
The girls too, will get to play in the tournament. Girls' singles will be started Thursday morning. About 15 girls are entered. As soon as the singles are completed the doubles will be started and the boys' and girls' doubles will be followed by mixed doubles.

The boys' singles tourney is expected to create a lot of real excitement. There are several star players in this vicinity, still young in years and it should be a battle royal for the championship honors. "Buddy" Rakestraw, Steve Churchill and Johnnie Boone are considered the most contenders. In the girls' singles Misses Dorothy Miller, Mary Douglas and Marion Cost are rated high.

FIRST GIRL'S SINGLES GOES TO MISS MEILLY

Miss Frances Meilly won the first match of the Junior Girls Tennis Tourney when she defeated Miss Dorothy Miller, Tuesday afternoon. The games were hard fought throut.

Scores of the sets were 6-3, 8-6.

In The Training Camps

GREAT FALLS, Mont. — Developing speed will be the objective of finishing touches of Jack Dempsey's training camp for the championship battle with Tommy Gibbons, scheduled for Shelby, Mont., July 4. The fighter who started boxing the lighter men in camp yesterday will be adhered to for the rest of the week, according to the program mapped by Manager Kearns.

Dempsey will do his last work with the gloves Sunday and the next two days will be filled in with light road work and perhaps a little light gymnasium exercises.

Kearns is in Shelby, having left suddenly last night. Asked concerning the payment of $100,000 due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee, Kearns said there would be no word from him on the subject until Monday, the day on which the payment falls due. Neither would he commit himself on his procedure in the event the money is not paid him.

Dempsey boxed five rounds yesterday, taking on Billy Wells, the British welter, Connie Curry, a 115 pounder from Sioux City, Iowa, and Lee Moore, a Los Angeles lightweight.

SHELBY, Mont. — Carnival spirit burst forth anew in Shelby today with the heavyweight championship match between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons only one week away, and with a recurrence of sunny weather after a period of rain a sudden influx of new arrivals struck the town.

Financial details for the bout were virtually completed yesterday when lumbermen and contractors who have a bill approximately $58,000 against the promoters for the arena agreed upon a pro rata settlement.

REDS AND INDIANS ANNEX WINS
The procession kept advancing in the National League yesterday with noisy precision. New York, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati won, and Philadelphia, St. Louis, and Chicago lost. Rain prevented Boston's game with Brooklyn.

It was the eighth consecutive victory for the Giants. The Quakers made noble pretensions for eight innings and then flopped, 6 to 3.

Pittsburgh has had an easy time so far this season with St. Louis. The pirates used three of their best pitchers and killed off a ninth inning rally to win, 7 to 5.

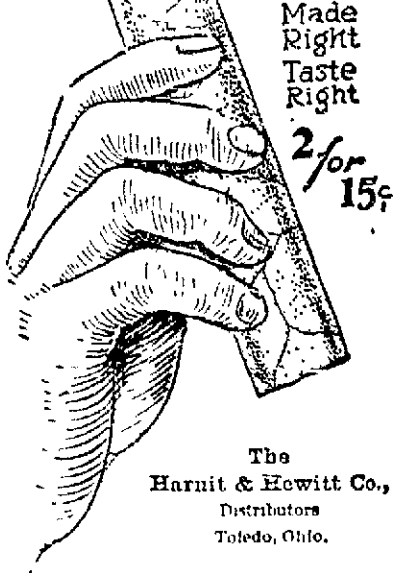

Hargrave made a big contribution to another Cincinnati victory over Chicago, making the winning run of a 14 inning battle, 4 to 3, by knocking the pill into the bleachers. The day before his home run blow was what really won for the Reds.

The Reds have now settled the place controversy. With the help of Chick Fewster, another Yankee outfielder, Jack Quinn scored a triumph over the league champions 7 to 4, and Philadelphia cracked their Washington pitchers, winning 15 to 7, the Yank lead was cut to five games.

Detroit closed its White Sox series, winning 7 to 6, through a hard hitting Ken Williams. Brown Shager, got his tenth home run of the season and the only run his team made while Cleveland was getting none.

St. Louis . . . won 6 to 1 . . . Cleveland . . . won 12 to 3 . . . Two bases hit—Pittsburg, Hargrave. Home runs—Chatham, Pittsburgh. Struck out—Adair, 1; Kern, 2; River, 1; Kern, 3. Double plays—Hargrave to Pearson, Adair to Pfeiffer to Hartnett, Hollister to Hartnett, Kummick to Pearson to Hartnett. Hits—Off River, 8 in 2; Adair, 3 in 2. Winning pitcher—Kern. Loser—Kern. Left on bases—Chicago 14. Cincinnati, 10. Time, 3:01. Umpires—McGinnick, O'Day and Finnegan.

ENGLISH ARE BIG BUYERS IN U. S.

European Investments Repurchased by the Millions

INCOME YIELD IS LARGER

Information Obtained Abroad Given Out by Forbes

(BY B. C. FORBES.)

NEW YORK.—(Special.)—Here is something that will astonish most Americans:

English and Scottish investors and investment companies have been buying back British and other European investments from America to the tune of several hundred millions of dollars.

Much has been said and written about the advisability or inadvisability of sending American capital to foreign countries. What would you say if you were told that the likelihood is that America will import rather than export capital in coming years?

I have just had a long talk with Eugene Meyer, Jr., the banker who headed this country's services of great practical value as head of the war finance corporation, and who has just returned from an information-seeking trip to Europe. I told Mr. Meyer that readers of this column would be less interested in the usual vague generalities uttered by returning visitors than they would be in some of the actual information and facts he discovered during his investigations. The following gives the gist of the many illuminating pointed things Mr. Meyer said:

"While in Europe I learned that English investment companies, such as insurance companies and the English and Scottish trusts, have been very large buyers during the past few months in the American market. Their purchases of the dollar bonds of the United Kingdom, placed some years ago, have been so great that reliable authorities estimated that 80 per cent of the original issues had been rebought by British investors, corporate and personal. Other investments have been made in the American market in the loans placed by foreign countries, such as the Argentine Republic.

"It is impossible to get an accurate estimate of the total of these purchases, say, in the past twelve months; but the figures would run according to the information I have received, somewhere between $200,000,000 and $400,000,000.

"These operations are brought about by the fact that the income yield is larger than can be obtained on the securities dealt in at home, in the local investment market. England is now, as she always has been, under peace conditions, a producer of surplus capital over and above the needs for reinvestment in extending developing enterprises within the country. The figures for trade balances, and gold imports and exports, must be considered in the light of these important transactions in investment securities now taking place between the United States and Europe.

"Even while the United States, during the war and post-war years, was exporting huge balances in merchandise over and above the imports of goods, the fundamental fact has always been evident that the United States sooner or later would need the capital produced annually above her own home requirements for reinvestment in developing her own resources. This is exactly what is taking place at the present time. We are using our surplus production of material wealth at home, and in addition we are liquidating some of our assets, acquired in recent years.

"We have had occasionally in the past periods of temporary export of investment funds to foreign countries, but they have never lasted long, because our rapidly growing population is spreading out over new and relatively undeveloped territory, and the capital requirements are enormous in the aggregate. It is estimated, for example, that one billion dollars this year will go into electric light and power plant expansion. The figures for housing, roads, sewers, railroads, in the aggregate fully account for the current annual savings.

"We frequently ask ourselves: Will America continue to hold its recently acquired position in the field of foreign finance?

"A number of things are necessary to make a nation the banker for other nations.

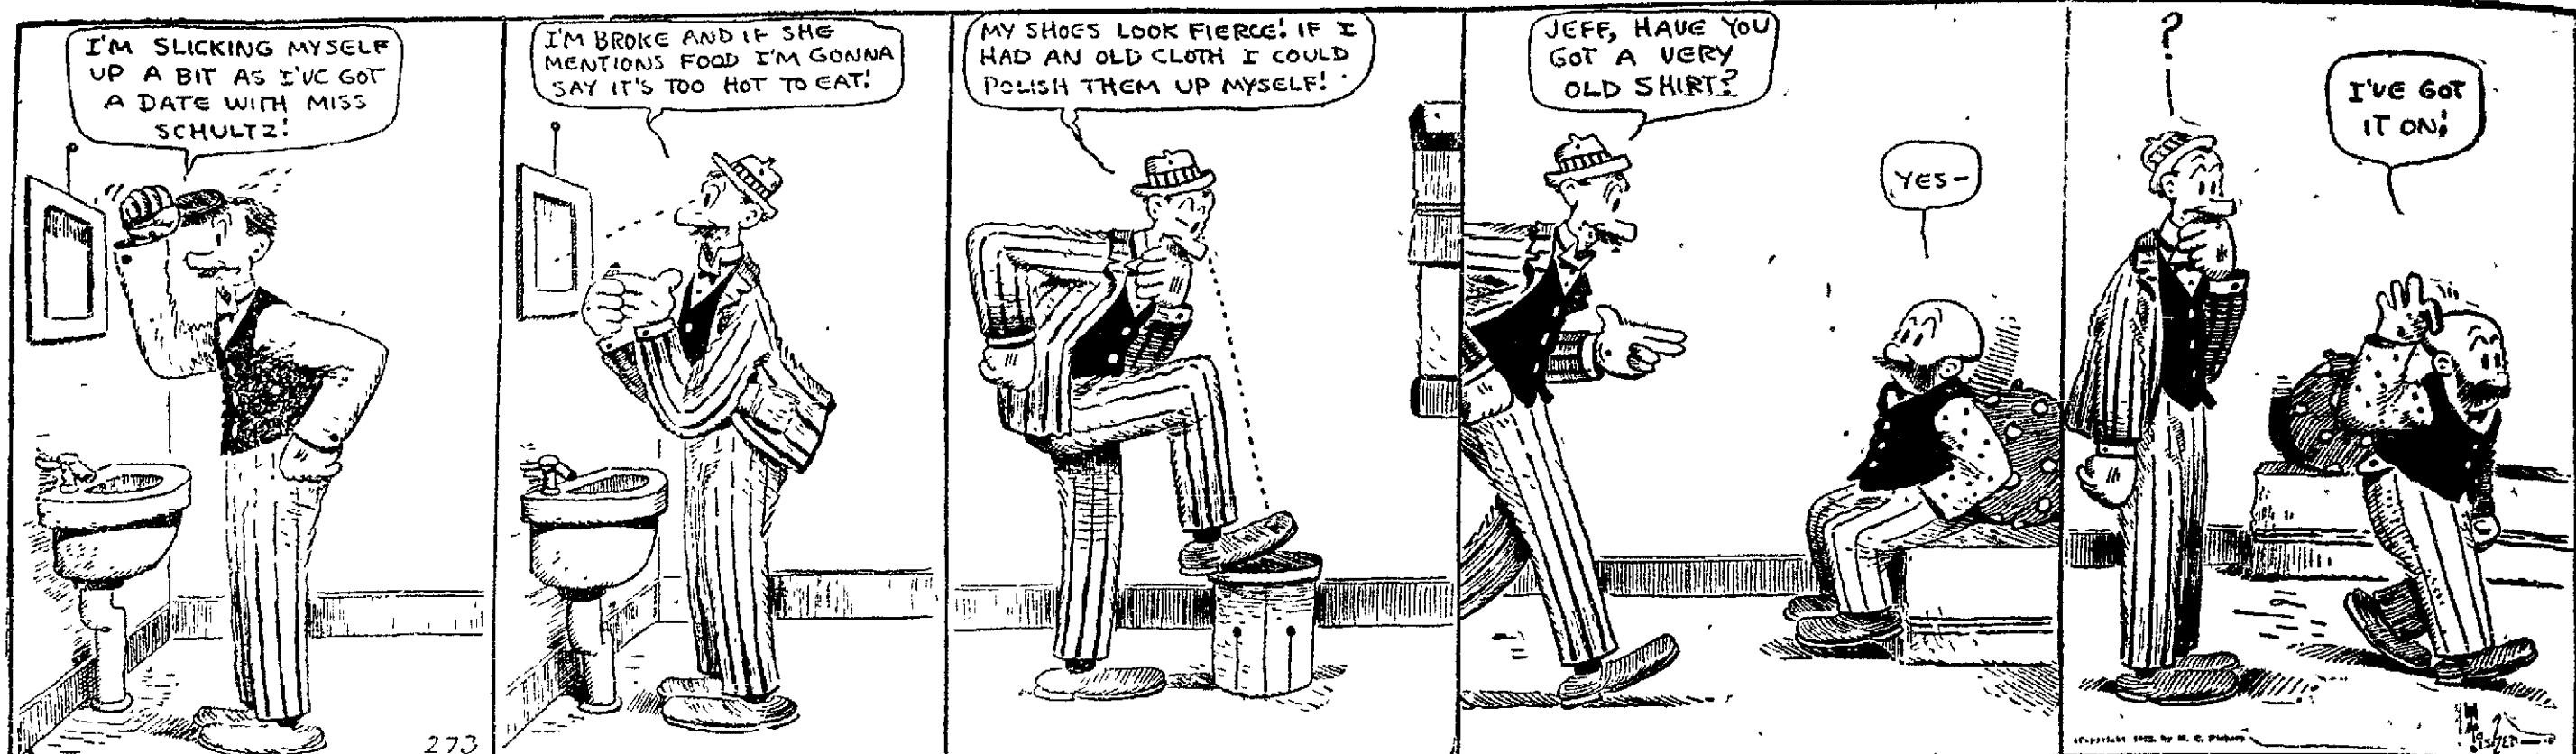

"One is the possession of surplus funds for foreign investment. Two is a three year ago we did finance foreign requirements on a large scale. Today we are not doing so, in spite of the fact that some foreign loans are still being placed here, such as the recent Austrian issue. The Dutch East Indies issue, placed a few months ago, is one of the issues which has been largely rebought by European investors.

"The second requirement for financing the foreign nations and industries is an experienced person, not knowing the business. In this respect we are infinitely better off than we were ten years ago, but—and I say this without disparagement to our own bankers—we can hardly claim to have as large and as experienced a personnel as those countries that have been in the business for centuries.

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By McMANUS

SHORT SHAVINGS

Victor Klingler, Lafayette R. D. 1, doesn't think much of his sister's knowledge of entomology. He writes.

"My sister and I were fixing the lawn mower one evening and I said, 'Look at the lightning bugs.' She said, 'By gosh, they are a blooming, ain't they!'"

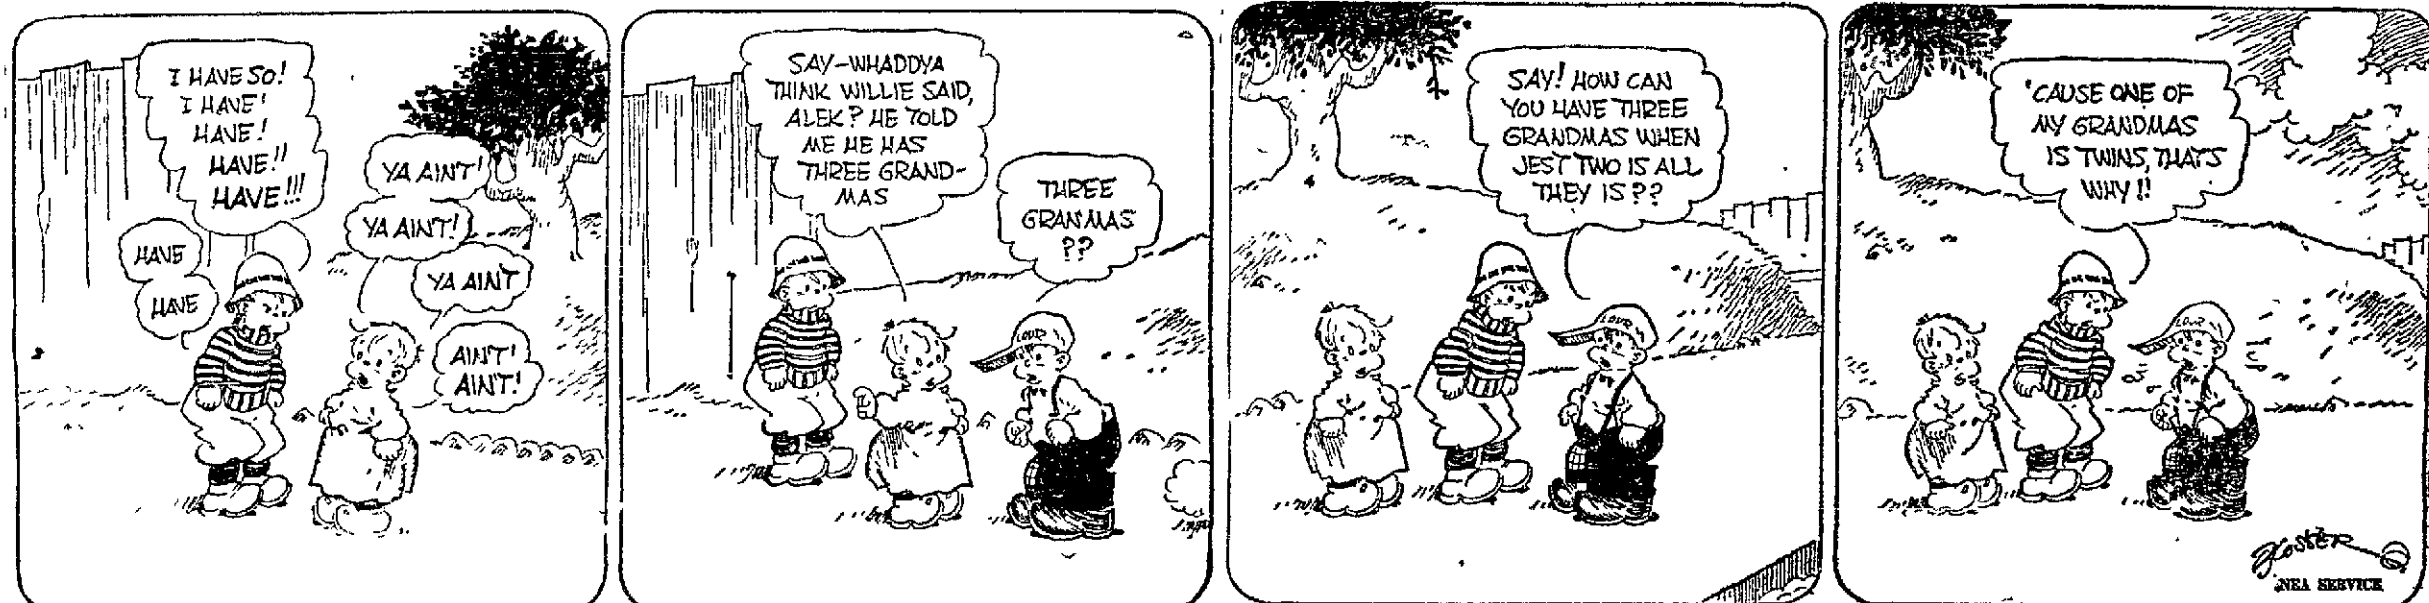

J. B. Dugan, attending a card party, tells about a young woman who spent the evening profitably while learning to play 500. "She got along very well without asking questions," Dugan said. "The others were inclined to ascribe her success to beginner's luck. For when the evening was over she surprised her hostess by asking, 'What I, meant by a trump?'"

Dr. J. R. Tiltson tells about another physician who was asked to prescribe a diet for a man who wanted to lose weight.

He told the patient that hard exercise as well as diet was required and recommended horseback riding. "I've tried that," the patient, "and it don't work. I've been thinking of using a Ford; how would that do?" he inquired.

H. C. They, jeweler, was interested in the talk of a deputy sheriff.

and a man he met on a street car, particularly their talk when the car arrived at the public square. The deputy said, "Stop in and see me any time you are around." The other said, "Where are you located?" "In the county jail." "Well, I'll try to keep out of that." "Well then, stop in and see me any time you are there to see any of your friends."

Dr. J. C. Nagelson, dentist, tells about a neighbor who started out with a necktie that was not new enough to suit his wife. He told Dr. Nagelson his feelings were hurt by what she said about it. He didn't mind so much that she said it looked "like something the cat dragged in." What hurt his feelings was when she added, "and there's been times when the cat has done a lot better than that."

"Happy" Vossler, manager of the Wapakoneta baseball team, thinks his 14-year-old hen is the oldest hen in Auglaize-co.

He has kept the fowl as a pet, feeling almost no temptation to kill her, even for stewing purposes, since she was six years old. He figures that day by day in every way she has been getting tougher and tougher, until now he thinks she is the toughest as well as the oldest hen in Auglaize-co.

Charles Dormire made a slight error in driving with the result that his flivver went into the canal at Sidney.

It made a big splash when it hit the water.

"And so did I," says Dormire. Lewis Mobus, musician, comments on the mishap of a friend who turned up at work with a black eye one morning. "It was like this," he said. "I was running after a street car and the motorman put on the brakes so suddenly I bumped into the car. That's all."
